

I recently asked to see Bishop Chaput to explain why the Catholic Church should withdraw its support of the Magis Center because of three new developments: In an email to me, a member of the Magis Center Board of Academic Fellows is clearly lying about the scientific arguments for God's existence as you can see from the attached pdf file.

The Campus Minister for Columbia U. threatened me with legal action for contacting two undergraduates about the arguments for God's existence. My letter to Cardinal Dolan about this scandal is attached.

I filed a complaint against Ave Maria Radio with the three Catholic Bishops named on its website. See: <http://www.newevangelist.me>.

I also have a request pending with St. Joseph's Seminary in New York to explain and answer questions about these three papers:

The last article sheds light on why the Magis Center is collaborating with the science establishment in the U.S. to mislead the public about biological evolution.
