

Dear Fr. Coyne,

1 to #4 are biological truths. Every layman should know these are true. No biologist disputes the truth of these propositions.

#5 concerns thermodynamics which you should understand. You know perfectly well that the second law does not apply to the evolution of stars. Nor does it apply to biological systems. You should support my effort to get the American Journal of Physics to retract that article. If this happens, Americans will learn how irrational the scientific establishment is about religion.

#3 concerns the cosmological argument for God's existence, as I explain in my brief to the second circuit. You should understand the cosmological argument for God's existence and support my efforts to get the Catholic Church to stop promoting irrational god-of-the-gaps arguments.

I am hoping you are not a "theistic evolutionist," like the American Scientific Affiliation and BioLogos. I've attached my correspondence with the BioLogos people.

Very truly yours,

David Roemer

<http://www.newevangelization.info>

David Roemer <david@dkroemer.com>

Jesuit Honor

George Coyne <coynegv@lemoyne.edu>
To: David Roemer <david@dkroemer.com>

Fri, Dec 11, 2015 at 5:39 PM

Dear David,

Since my retirement in 2006 as Director of the Vatican Observatory I have had no further contact with CTNS. Furthermore, I have no expertise in the topic under discussion and so will not engage in your discussions. So, please consider me as not involved.

Best wishes.

George V. Coyne, S.J.

[Quoted text hidden]